Killer Books -- Fiction for Teens

Acceleration
by Graham McNamee
When Britain is overrun by a horde of zombie bovines, the fate of the nation falls in the hands of an abattoir worker who smells unpleasantly like his profession, a besotted teen vegan and an inept journalist.

I am not a Serial Killer
by Dan Wells
John Wayne Cheever keeps his obsession with serial killers in check by a set of rigid rules that he lives by, hoping to prevent himself from committing murder, but when a body turns up behind a Laundromat, John must confront a danger outside himself, a threat he can’t control.

The Body Finder
by Kimberly Derting
Violet uses her uncanny ability to sense murderers and their victims to try to stop a serial killer who is terrorizing her town, and although her best friend and would-be boyfriend Jay promises to keep her safe, she becomes a target.

My Father’s Son
by Terri Fields
When his father is arrested as a suspect in the string of vicious killings by the DB25 murderer, a young man must reconsider everything in his life and face the harsh reality that he may have never really known his father at all after all these years.

Dear Killer
by Katherine Ewell
Committing assassinations for an anonymous client who leaves her letters and payments in a secret mailbox, Kit accepts her moral nihilism as the only way of life she has ever known until she is challenged to question the line between good and evil.

Nearly Gone
by Elle Cosimano
A math-whiz from a trailer park discovers she’s the only student capable of unravelling complex clues left by a serial killer who’s systematically getting rid of her classmates.

Death Note: Boredom
by Tsugumi Ohba
When high school student Light Yagami finds the Death Note, a notebook dropped by a Shinigami death god, he discovers that any person whose name is written in it dies, so Light decides to use the notebook to rid the world of evil.

Ripper
by Stefan Petrucha
Adopted by famous Pinkerton Agency Detective Hawking in 1895 New York, fourteen-year-old Carver Young hopes to find his birth father, but when he becomes involved in the pursuit of notorious killer Jack the Ripper, Carver discovers that finding the truth can be worse than ignorance.

The Girl on the Run
by Gregg Olsen
What if you discovered that everything you thought you knew about yourself was a lie? Rylee is 15 years old, and she has spent her life being shuttled from city to city by her parents. One day Rylee comes home from school to find her father dead. A message in blood is written on the floor. RUN.

Tenderness
by Robert Cormier
Recently released from juvenile detention for the murder of his parents, eighteen-year-old Eric takes to seducing and killing beautiful girls before meeting the runaway Lori, whose own demons are put to rest as their relationship develops.
