Dark and Deepest Red

by Anna-Marie McLemore

Trapped in a pair of red shoes that compel her to dance uncontrollably, Rosella is drawn to a youth of questionable intent whose family was blamed for witchcraft centuries earlier. By the award-winning author of When the Moon Was Ours.

One Of Us Is Lying

by Karen M. McManus

When one of five students in detention is found dead, his high-profile classmates—including a brainy intellectual, a popular beauty, a drug dealer on probation and an all-star athlete—are investigated and revealed to be the subjects of the victim's latest gossip postings. Simultaneous and eBook.

A Song Below Water

by Bethany C. Morrow

A metaphorical tale follows the experiences of a black teen siren and her haunted best friend, who find themselves targeted by violence when they are unable to hide their supernatural identities in an alternate world that discriminates against magic.

The Fell of Dark

by Caleb Roehrig

Trying to keep his head down in a supernaturally charged community that is populated mostly by vampires, August is unexpectedly attracted to a mysterious vampire boy who draws him into a conflict with an ancient and terrible power. By the author of White Rabbit and Last Seen Leaving.

Ink In The Blood

by Kim Smejkal

In a lushly dark fantasy debut, two members of a highly respected religion discover after a decade of servitude that their faith is built on deceptions that strip away individual freedoms, a realization that compels them to escape with a traveling theater troupe. 35,000 first printing. Simultaneous eBook.

Scythe

by Neal Shusterman

In a world where disease has been eliminated, the only way to die is to be randomly killed ('gleaned') by professional reapers ('scythes'). Two teens must compete with each other to become a scythe--a position neither of them wants. The one who becomes a scythe must kill the one who doesn't. First in a series.
